

OVERVIEW

It is our honor to offer this Community Chaplaincy training program to those who desire to serve others who are experiencing, or are attempting to recover from, a critical incident. By submitting this application to be a Community Chaplain candidate, you acknowledge you are providing your full consent to the staff and pastors of Responders Resource Center to perform a complete review process in order to determine your eligibility for this program. All applicants must provide, with their completed application, two letters of recommendation from pastors of the applicant's home church.

This application must be completed in its entirety. Applications received incomplete, or needing further information, will be returned to the applicant for completion. It must be understood that applying by submitting an application in no way ensures you will be accepted into this program. We believe being a Chaplain requires gifting and experience, these will be identified by the staff of Responders Resource Center, or by the pastor of the church which the applicant attends.

VOLUNTEER CHAPLAIN DESCRIPTION

Chaplain ministry involves bringing the ministry of the church of Jesus Christ into areas where people either are unwilling or unable to receive care or services in a traditional church setting. As a Community Chaplain you will likely be serving in your church body or in a venue that will recognize the completion of your training and therefore commission you. Chaplains often perform their ministry in the community as partners with mental and physical health providers. As part of a ministry team, the Community Chaplain often:

- ◆ supports the pastoral staff of his/her local church by providing pastoral care to its members, thus reducing the load on the pastoral staff, and increasing care of the congregation;
- ◆ develops relationships with other care providers while seeking opportunities to minister to all involved in critical incidents.
- ◆ provide assistance to those who have experienced a critical incident.
- ◆ helps coordinate available resources in the church and connects those in need to community resources when no care of the same level is available through faith-based services; and
- ◆ assists, coordinates, or conducts functions relating to the Christian life, such as ceremonies and services.

As education is an important component of chaplaincy, chaplains who have received their commission should continue to pursue continuing education.

TRAINING REQUIREMENTS

Once accepted into the program, Community Chaplain candidates will be required to:

- ◆ complete all the courses listed for the Community Chaplain program; and
- ◆ complete the 50 hours of apprenticeship as described under "Mentored Apprenticeship."

IMPORTANT DISCLAIMER

Here at Responders Resource Center, we want to feel confident we have given you the necessary tools to be successful in chaplaincy. While we realize some missed classes, might require a longer program, we also feel consistency in training helps ensure you are sent out with the latest training techniques and competency in performing out in the field. If you have missed several months in one year due to any reason, it would be at the discretion of the Senior Chaplain and on an individual basis, how we can approach the final goal of completing the program. Our hope is this becomes a one-year commitment; most people can complete the program in about nine months if they can attend every class offered as it comes up. If there is a lapse of ten months or greater with no attendance between classes you may be required to repeat some, if not, all classes. And if one year or greater has lapsed with no attendance, you will be required to re-apply to the program and subject to any additional fees. While we try to keep costs down to make the program affordable, we will from time to time find it necessary to increase our fees, change our protocols, and course content to provide the most up-to-date techniques. If for any reason you foresee a long lapse in attendance, please let us know so we can discuss your re-entrance into the program. ~ RRC Management

MENTORED APPRENTICESHIP

In addition to the classroom hours needed, a mentored apprenticeship is required before receiving a certificate of completion of this program. No less than fifty (50) hours are required to fulfill the apprenticeship training.

Because each applicant is likely new to chaplaincy, it is strongly encouraged that a diversity of training experiences be engaged when choosing mentored apprenticeship opportunities. It is also recommended that 2/3 of that apprenticeship time be focused on the area of service the applicant feels he/she is likely to engage in after completing the Community Chaplaincy training and/or Pathway training.

The following is the process for starting and tracking Mentored Apprenticeship hours:

1. Submit a proposal for apprenticeship hours to the staff of Responders Resource Center.
2. Await approval from Responders Resource Center staff for the hours before starting the apprenticeship service.
3. Once the hours have been completed, have the person under whom you served verify the completion of the hours by signing and dating the proposal where indicated; and
4. Return all completed forms to Responders Resource Center.

If you are having difficulty identifying areas of service where you could gain the apprenticeship hours, please contact one of the instructors from Responders Resource Center for assistance.

COSTS OF TRAINING AND CANDIDACY

The cost of this one-year training program is $850. This includes all the training courses, including two courses from the International Critical Incident Stress Foundation that also come with certifications of completion if the candidate completes the Community Chaplaincy training program. Limited scholarships may be available on a case-by-case basis as it is our desire to see every willing and qualified candidate complete this training. We also strongly encourage candidates to raise support for their training.

COMMISSIONING AS A CHAPLAIN

Upon completion of the Community Chaplaincy training program and all its requirements, applicants shall receive a certificate of completion. If the applicant is a member of Freedom Community Church, then he/she shall sit before a review board which will determine if his/her proficiency and aptitude warrant his/her commissioning, or if further training or experience will be required.

If the applicant is a member of another church, then he/she shall take the certificate of completion to his/her senior pastor so that his/her pastor can determine if the applicant is ready to be commissioned.

If the applicant desires to serve under another agency other than their church, he/she should present their certificate of completion to that agency and seek their commissioning.

More details can be gathered by arranging a meeting with a staff member of Responders Resource Center.

CODE OF CONDUCT

Due to the position of a chaplain to represent Jesus and the church family at large, the following codes of conduct are not suggestions but requirements.

Chaplains must practice good hygiene and show up to all events, incidents, and appointments dressed in attire appropriate for approval and respect of the other professionals with whom we will be working. This does not mean a chaplain must wear professional attire (unless in a setting where that would be appropriate), but it does mean a chaplain must not show up in casual attire such as shorts, flip flops, or damaged/stained clothing. Dress is expected to show respect and to be appropriate for the situation in which the applicant is working.

The use of alcohol, tobacco, or mind-altering substances (whether legal or illegal) while performing duties as a chaplain is completely prohibited. Although the Bible does not specifically condemn alcohol not leading to drunkenness, smoking, chewing, or the use of pain medications, when legally prescribed and taken in accordance with the prescription, it is never appropriate for a chaplain to respond to a call, or to attend a meeting after he/she has been indulging in such activities if the effects or byproducts are still evident. No drinking, smoking, or chewing is ever allowed at, or in conjunction with, any: seminars, training, traveling with a team, or any other activity related to service as a chaplain, or chaplain in training, while representing Responders Resource Center. Foul language, crude or dark humor, or conversation inappropriate for pastoral care is entirely inappropriate as a chaplain and is prohibited.

Sexual purity as mandated by the Bible will be required of each candidate and/or chaplain.

Any failure on the part of the applicant and/or chaplain to adhere to the above standards of conduct, or a general overall failure to represent the Lord Jesus Christ in a way that is consistent with Biblical teachings can result in action, ranging from a warning to immediate removal of commissioning, or cessation of training.

CONFIDENTIALITY

Due to the nature of the work of chaplains, it is critical to understand that confidentiality is imperative to protect those whom you serve, and yourself. Confidentiality by definition is to: refrain from speaking about a certain matter. It is also a professional duty.

Communication regarding an incident to which a chaplain responds is to be kept between the chaplain and the parties involved in the matter. These matters are not to be shared with others, including other chaplains not involved in the incident, without written permission from all involved. The exceptions to such could include:

- ◆ debriefing with a pastoral staff member of Responders Resource Center or another chaplain or pastor as assigned to be the credentialing agency once commissioned. A debriefing would commonly follow a particularly difficult assignment, as defined by the pastoral staff or the responding Chaplain.
- ◆ the event an incident to which a chaplain responded enters the legal process for review. Example: no “privilege” existed between the chaplain and other parties involved. Note: Chaplains will be required to take the course entitled “Legal Concepts in Chaplaincy,” which further defines these terms and concepts.

If confidentiality is breached by a chaplain or chaplain in training, there will be a review which could result in actions leading to suspension and/or a revoking of that chaplain's commissioning, or removal from any type of chaplaincy training provided through Responders Resource Center. Chaplains must possess this ability to keep certain matters confidential; otherwise, the individual should not be a chaplain.
